

Educating the Next Wave of Leaders and Innovators

K. Kumar

Indian Institute of Management Bangalore

Eduniversal World Convention

10 October 2013

The Big Questions

Why entrepreneurship education?

What can be taught about entrepreneurship?

Who can be taught entrepreneurship?

Why Entrepreneurship Education?

Knowledge - key driver of innovation and value creation

Motivating and enabling “Knowledge Carriers”

Economic value creation and social transformation

What Can Be Taught About Entrepreneurship?

Entrepreneurial mindset

Entrepreneurship as a method

Who Can Be Taught Entrepreneurship?

Individual as an entrepreneur

Entrepreneurial Organizations

Entrepreneurial Societies

- Idea to Implementation

Research

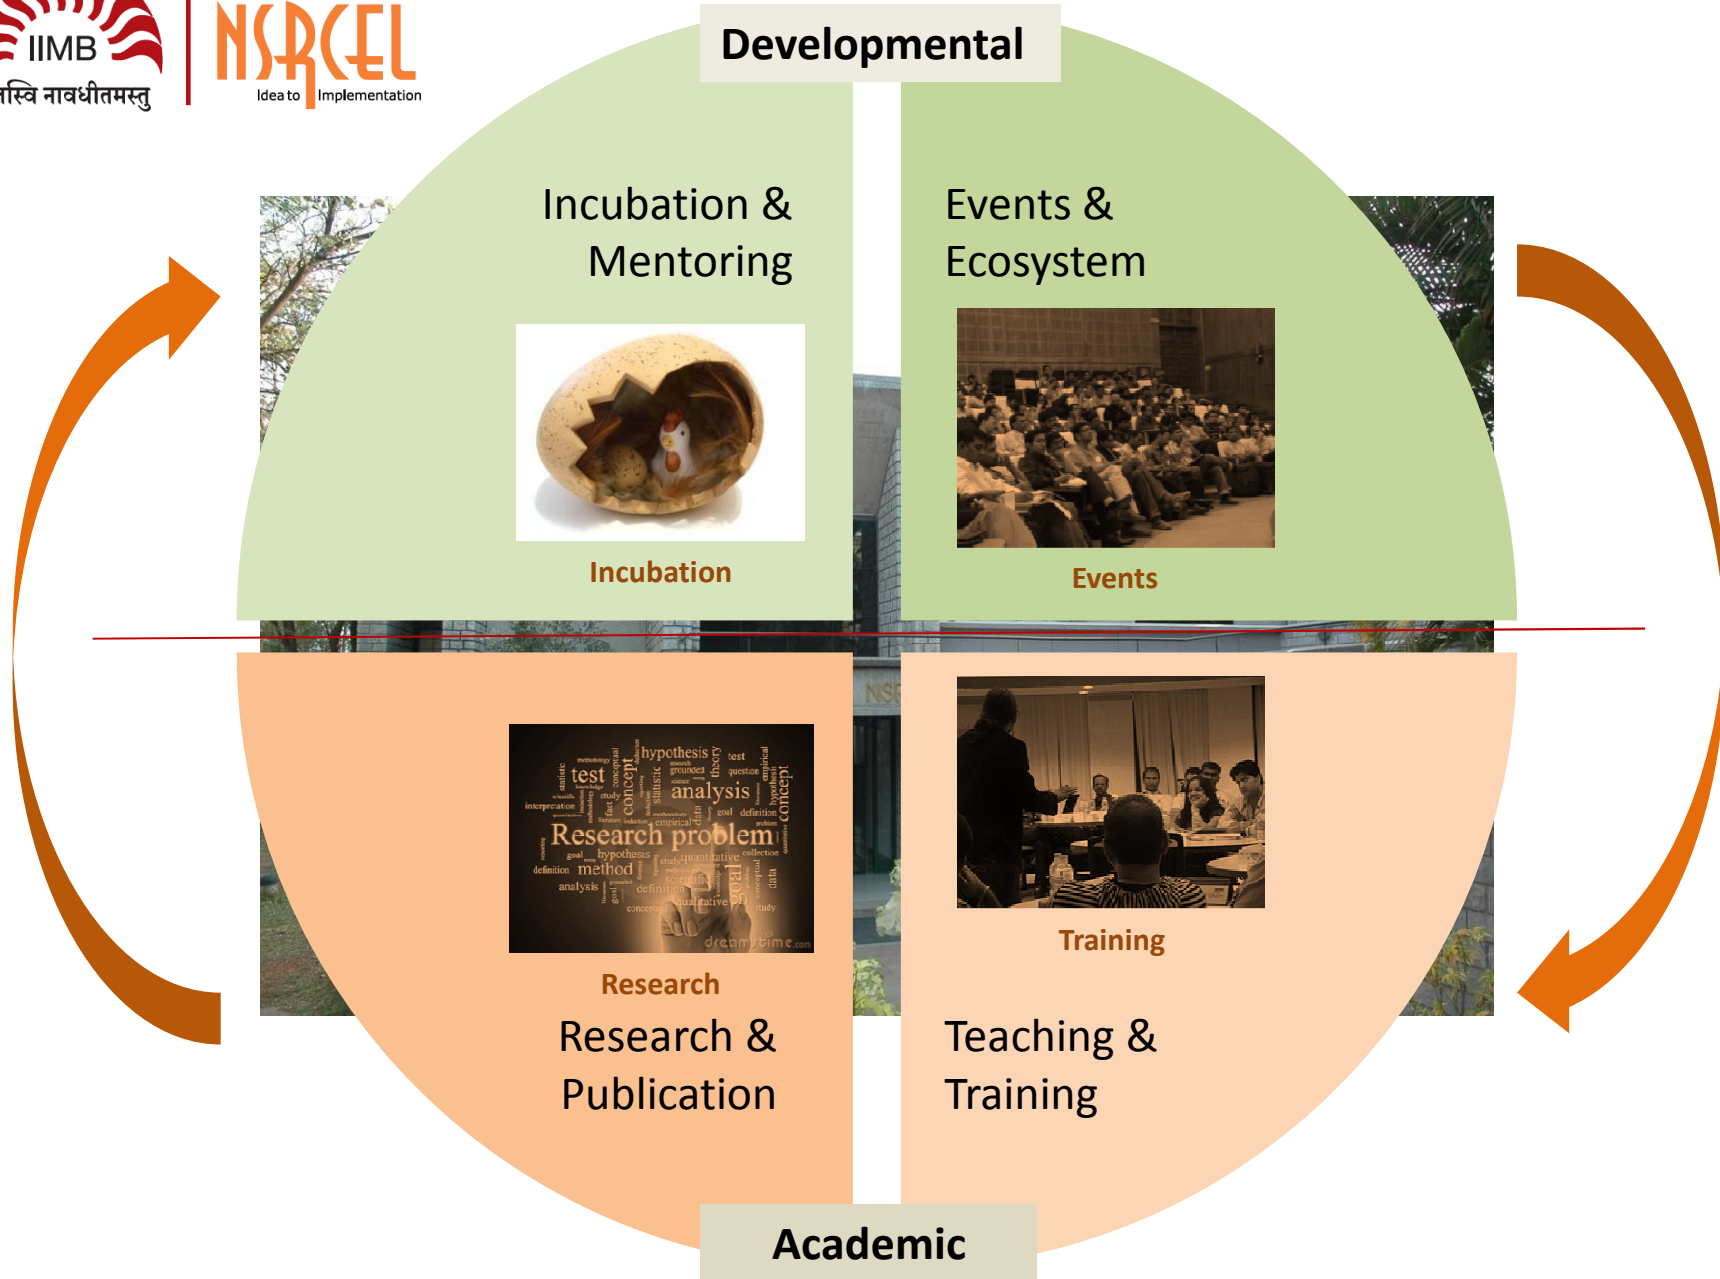

Incubation

Events

Training

Research & Publication

Direction of Research

- Context specific emerging economy research
- Focus on building data bases
- Inform all levels from individual ventures through regions to policy makers

Dissemination

- Books
- Position papers
- Conferences

International Collaborations:

- Prof Saras Saraswathy (Darden School of Business, University of Virginia)
- Prof Ravi Sarathy (Northeastern University, Massachusetts)
- Prof Shameen Prashantham (Nottingham University Business School China)
- Prof Shruti Sardeshmukh (University of South Australia)

Academic

Incubation & Mentoring

10 Years

45 Incubatees

Across Domains

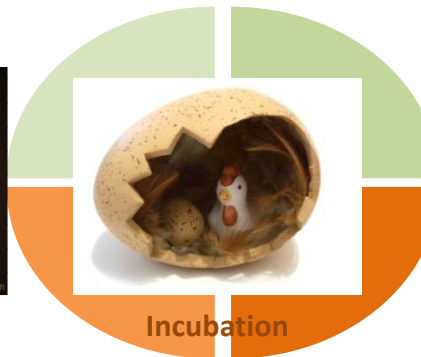

> 80% in business

8 mentors

Mentored 200+ companies /year

Research

Incubation

Events

Training

Developmental

Events & Ecosystem

NSRCEL Lead Events

Getting2Startup

NSRCEL Partnered Events

and Many more...

Research

Incubation

Events

Training

Developmental

Teaching & Training

Entrepreneurship focused courses

PGP students

Teaching Effectual Entrepreneurship

Teachers/Trainers of Entrepreneurship

DREAM Workshop

Doctoral Students

MPEFB

Entrepreneurs & Family Businesses

MPWE

Women Entrepreneurs

Research

Incubation

Events

Training

Academic

Thank you!